raise in the price of thining aext spring. As it is now, the price of beyles should be lowered. A remarkable feature of the new talang is its wonderful toughness. A piece of talaing twenty-one uncless ions was deflected that is bent back and forth in a testing marbine a sixteenth of an inch. Listate times without besiking it. A taring streep of North panils a "quar-tach had to be applied to a tale in mich and a quariter through and any about a fortieth of an inch take, he fore it burst. I is estimated that a testing strain of 21.00 pounds a square inch could be applied to surface this wonderful talang strain of 21.00 pounds a square inch could be applied to burst, but instead fooded all in rigidarines, but instead fooded all in rigidariness, much like a telescope in which no flaw or tear could be discovered. The crusting load required for the test will be a load was required which produces a stress of from $4.00 to $5.00 pounds a square inch in the outer nine of the steel.

The novelty of the new process less in the marchinery used to draw and clean the tubes. Of the present methods for making sourless these the most popular are the Mannesmann and Stefe processes less in the marchinery used to draw and clean the tubes. Of the present methods for making sourless tubes the most popular are the Mannesmann and Stefe processes pob h of these processes the tubes are drawn out cold from sold masses of steel and for both the metal must be of a superfor quality and entitled free from flaws or the drawing out a wedled steel pine. Tubes made in this way from American steel have proven equal in every respect and better in many to those made from the best imported stock.

How Walking Sticks Are Made.

From the Goldes Penny.

The industry of making walking sticks has undergone many changes during the past fifty years. The sticks are bent into the requisite shapes by being plunned into hot sand, which is kept at a proper temperature over a stove. Crooked sticks can thus be bent straight, and after they have been manipulated they are put on one side to cool, when they become perfectly rigid. Different kinds of wood require a different heat in order to render them pliable. The most popular sticks are those made from the saclings of trees, of which the roots form the handles of the sticks. These are much more expensive than sticks out from sch more expensive than sticks cut from
